Full project details

We All Fly Together is a project to bring aerial arts to young people who face inequality through race, geography and socio-economic deprivation and have not had the chance to experience and develop their knowledge of it before.

We are delivering a programme of aerial arts delivery in partnership with SCORE Scotland, based at WHALE Arts in Wester Hailes, Edinburgh. We began in April 2021 introducing young people to the artform and are now developing a year long programme. It will culminate in a performance in Edinburgh with other aerial youth groups. Funded by the Scottish Government's Youth Arts Fund through Creative Scotland
